The applicants for the seed are highly pleased with its quality, and state it is much superior to the grain given out in 1911. Mr. Stewart figures that the total cost of the seed to be given out from Bow Island will amount to about $75,000.

At the meeting of the Grand Lodge of Alberta L.O.O.F. at Edmonton last week, R. A. Parker was elected Grand Warden. This appointment is one which will meet with general approval among the lodges of Southern Alberta, for we believe we are correct in stating that there is not a member who has done greater work or more consistently advocated the principles of Oddfellowship than Bro. Parker. At Winnifred especially the hard and strenuous work he has put in there will be long remembered and appreciated.

Has anyone seen an aeroplane in the district lately. One of our former friends living north-east of town is positive of having seen one flying over that neighborhood a few days ago. He states his attention was first attracted by a strong light to the east of his farm, and at first judged it to be the headlight of an automobile, but shortly afterwards he saw the same light some distance in the air, apparently hovering over seven or eight acres. Thence it went north, and finally after flitting around for a short while it disappeared in a south-westerly direction.

Alberta Farmers May Grow Corn.

Before long it will be quite practicable to grow corn for feed purposes in Alberta, according to the belief of G. H. Hutton, superintendent of the Dominion experimental farm at Lacombe. The corn belt, he maintains, is creeping north at the rate of about six miles a year, and he expects to see shortly large quantities of maize grown for fodder purposes.

Corn is now grown in a small way in some districts in Alberta, but cannot be said as yet to be a crop of importance in the province.

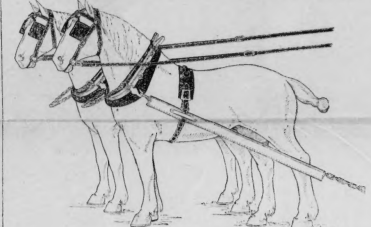

A crop of over 160,000 tons was grown in Manitoba last year.

FIVE LARGE CITIES AND THEIR GROWTH

Development of Industrial Life in Winnipeg, Portage la Prairie, Brandon, Calgary and Edmonton

Of five Western cities for which census figures are available, namely, Winnipeg, Brandon, Portage la Prairie, Edmonton and Calgary, Winnipeg as might be expected heads the list both in number of establishments and value of products manufactured though the other cities are also making remarkable progress in factory development.

The following are the statistics by cities for the census year 1911:

Winnipeg—Establishments, 177; capital, $25,234,350; employees, 11,701; wages, $7,614,646; cost of material, $15,425,736; value of products, $22,699,359.

Calgary—Establishments, 46; capital, $12,082,596; employees, 2,131; wages, $1,649,555; cost of material, $4,639,449; value of products, $7,761,148.

Edmonton—Establishments, 60; capital, $10,111,211; employees, 1,507; wages, $1,001,721; cost of material, $2,586,046; value of products, $1,475,304.

Brandon—Establishments, 29; capital, $3,012,115; employees, 831; wages, $571,970; cost of material, $1,060,310; value of products, $2,236,100.

Portage la Prairie—Establishments, 15; capital, $2,762,070; employees, 341; wages, $210,229; cost of material, $1,482,371; value of products, $2,653,641.

Of the Manitoba cities Brandon's increase is as gratifying in proportion. From 12 industrial establishments in 1900 and 23 in 1905 there has been an expansion to 29 in 1911, while the volume of her products have increased from $51,327 in 1905 and $267,995 in 1905 to $2,236,431, although it would be seen that Brandon's increase in output has not been nearly so great for the past five years as has Winnipeg's, still the increase for the decade has been very satisfactory. Portage la Prairie had four establishments in 1900, 11 in 1905 and 15 in the 1911 census. The value of her products has increased from $69,209 in 1900 to $2,500,000 in 1911, a larger increase than Brandon.

During the decade the number of Edmonton's industrial establishments has jumped from 5 to 40 and the volume of her products from $247,818 to $4,600,000, or over 200 per cent.

Calgary has increased her establishments from 10 to 46 or 360 per cent and the volume of her products from $500,000 to $7,760,000, or at 154 per cent. During the past five years alone, Calgary has tripled her output of industrial concerns.

FRENCH TRADE POLICY

Agriculture Developed When Its Products Were Protected

From the time of Napoleon Bonaparte to the present day, France fluctuated greatly. At times it was strongly protectionist when at other times it seemed to be under the influence of the free trade policy.

In 1892 a general French tariff took effect, which while freeing raw materials and taxing half-manufactured articles moderately, increased the duties on live stock, fresh meats and other agricultural products. It is not manufacturers who were not protected to any extent. The agricultural depression about that time led to the Acts of 1888 and 1887, in which much higher duties were imposed on wheat, flour, rye, barley, oats, cattle, sheep, pigs and fresh meat. The aim of the government was to preserve for the French peasant his large and profitable home market, free from the inroads of German and other products. In 1892 further protection was extended to agricultural products. The protection and encouragement given to the French farmers not only directly benefited the peasantry but greatly added to the wealth of the nation. Nearly every foot of soil is extremely well cultivated in France. Many people have been quick to see the profit in preventing the overworking of cities and the struggle for places among laborers in industrial centres, which would have occurred had France pursued the English policy of opening her ports to the free admission of farm products of other countries, and ruined and impoverished her agriculture. Instead of that, her rural population was given an opportunity to produce and sell in French markets vegetables, poultry, dairy products and everything which could be produced by French farmers. The steady development of agriculture which immediately followed protection to agriculture has been most fully indicated.
